of Crops in New Hampshire. Hon. Nathan J. Batchelder, secretary of the New Hampshire state board of agriculture, gave an interesting review of crop conditions throughout that last week. Chief in importance is the hay crop, which the farmers are now gathering in the best possible con-"The crop is splendid all over the state," said Secretary Batchelder, "due to the start which it obtained in the spring, and the numerous rains with which the state was favored during the growing season. So far as I can estimate the size of the crop by observation, it will be one-third larger than the crop of last year, and in quality, better than for a long series of years. The hay is now going into the barns rapidly and with no bad weather in sight, the harvest should be accomplished in quick time and without damage of any kind. "Corn is not looking so good, due to the long rains and the cold weather of the spring, which prevented a good catch and a good stand. Then again, the crop was cut down in many places by the late frosts, which compelled a replanting of the crop. The fields are now looking well, however, and should the frosts hold off until late in the fall the crop will be an average one; otherwise, there will be a short-

Death of Judge J. R. Darling, a Prom-

failing health for several weeks, passed away at his home in this village Friday morning. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. P. A. Smith officiated, assisted by Rev. S. H. Myers. Jonathan R. Darling, son of John and Jeanette (Brock) Darling, was born in Groton in 1823 and was a life long resident of this town. He was married in 1849 to Sarah M. Taisey, who survives him. Eight children were born to them, five of whom are living, Cyrus T. and Walter B., of Davenport, Iowa., John T., Robert N. and Ellsworth E., of this place. In the death of Mr. Darling, Groton loses a citizen who has ever held a prominent place in the business and public life of the town, being for many years in the mercantile and lumber business, and filling at different times various town offices, holding that of town clerk for a period of 40 years. He was twice elected to the legislature and was also senator from Caledonia county and assistant judge. Possessed of an unusually bright mind, he was always well informed on the leading topics of the day and was much looked to for council and aid. Aside from the fact that Mr. Darling was partially blind for the past few years he retained his faculties to the last. He will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends.

A Typewriter Built to Order

If you could have a typewriter made to order, how would you have it? Built for show-or built for service? Loaded down with attachments, devices and mechanisms-or simple, durable and efficient? Would you demand the most machinery-or the best, in materials, workmanship has every quality that you would demand in a made-to-order-machine. It meets every requirement of efficiency, durability and economy.

THE ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER

The first thing you notice about the Royal is its simplicity. You see instantly that it is constructed on new and correct principles, with all needless attachments and devices eliminated. The Royal is built for service.

It has only about half as many parts as other standard machines. The simplicity thus secured works for Your advantage in FOUR ways: A saving in the original investment; low cost of maintenance; minimum of effort and maximum of convenience in operation; and the long life of the machine.

The price of the Royal is $65 a new standard price for a high-grade writing machine.
